Insightful reviews

Miranda: This book was ok. I didn't really get it. Like no lie, it was very confusing and a waste of time.

Salma: I though this book was okay, it wasn't the best, yet it was interesting at some parts. It is about a girl named Zoe who wants a fairy god mother, a chic makeover and a seat with the best table at lunch. Zoe is at a poor popularity meter and wish to be at the top by grade 6. Will she pull it off! I shouldn't spoil it for you! But here's a hint, something dramatic will happen, something that you might not expect throughout the book. I would recommend this book to kids from 9 and up, as it's a little childish.

Julie: A book that actually makes me think it was written by a 10 year old. One with a lot of energy and trouble focusing her thoughts. It was a little frustrating to read at first. She seemed to bounce all over the place. But once I got into it, that didn't bother me anymore.

The format is the odd thing about this book. It's sort of like a journal, in that there's different fonts at different points. Big cursive, etc. And then there's cartoons and drawings. And sometimes it even delves into screenplay format.

The story is Zoey wanting to become cool before sixth grade. Given that she likes catching frogs, and knows a ton of things about the US presidents, her chances seem slim.

This is a really good book for tweens or younger.

Karen: Zoey is a kinda geek she has a bf and her identify is Venus and Zoey desires to have the easiest seat at lunch, and desires a wholly reliable makeover just like the (Basheys) Brittney+Ashley=Bashleys! you will locate this booklet in recognition and friendship! Zoey is kinda jealous concerning the Bashleys simply because they're prettier than her. You can locate this publication in any public library.

The Library Lady: i discovered Zoey's type stressful within the similar manner i locate Junie B Jones to be annoying. The choppy, leap everywhere in the place, ADHD sort bugged the heck out of me. and that i stumbled on the whole lot predictable--especially the "you're nice as yourself" want success type of ending. That's what I think. yet i'm really not an eleven 12 months previous girl. and that i suspect that there are a number of eleven yr previous ladies in the market who will consume this one up.

Ubalstecha: mild and fluffy publication approximately Zoey who desperately desires to be associates with the most well-liked women within the school. Unfortunately, Zoey is a little bit a nerd. She is aware every little thing concerning the US presidents and her style feel is quirky at best. while a magazine comes for a way shoot, Zoey's lifestyles takes a flip for the wierd. Book is written as a suite of Zoey's thoughts, notes, photos and script format. whereas this is often geared toward suffering readers, the scattered nature of the narrative may possibly make this novel too challenging.
